NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—In accordance with a policy established at the start of the depression the friends and relatives of inmates in Ohio penitentiary will not be permitted to send Thanksgiving Day boxes of food and confections to the prisoners. It was announced last week by Warden James C. Woodard. A customary special Thanksgiving dinner will be served at the institution. The menu will include roast pork and dressing, sweet potatoes, celery, pumpkin pie, coffee and apples, Warden Woodard said. The reason for the decree banning Thanksgiving boxes is that many families would make sacrifices in order to remember friends and relatives who are paying their debt to society, when as a matter of fact the inmates will fare better Thanksgiving day than many persons outside the penitentiary. In addition to the special Thanksgiving dinner, Warden Woodard hopes that funds will be sufficient to provide cigars and candy for the inmates.

"A definitely improved economic situation in Ohio is clearly reflected by the reports of banks." This was the statement made by Superintendent Samuel H. Squire of the state division of banks and banking in his monthly survey of the bank call of September 30. "The evidence presented in the call unquestionably indicates that the banking structure of the state rests upon a firm and absolutely sound foundation," Superintendent Squire asserted, "and that the confidence of the public in banks of the state has reached a new high with recuperative forces necessary for the return of normal prosperity increasing in momentum." Total resources of the 465 reporting banks on September 30 were $1,243,355,780, an increase of $21,583,868 since the call of June 29, and an increase of $118,027,705 since the call of October 2, 1934. Total deposits on September 30 were $1,075,375,791, an increase of $20,008,898 since June 29 and an increase of $123,457,289 since October 2, 1934. "With ample unused funds stored in vaults, with bank reserves on hand in excess of legal requirements, Ohio's banks are admirably fortified and are prepared to meet all proper credit demands which may come from business and the borrowing public," Mr. Squire commented.

Newspaper editors and publishers from all sections of the state will gather in Columbus November 15 and 16 for the annual "Newspaper Days" events sponsored by the school of journalism of Ohio State University. Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, Dr. Joseph S. Myers, former director of the school of journalism, and Football Coach F. A. Schmidt will be the principal speakers. The names of the well-known Ohio journalists, now deceased, will be added to the scrolls of the Ohio Journalism Hall of Fame. They are the late John McLean, 1785-1861, founder of the Lebanon Western Star, and the martyred Don R. Mellett, 1896-1920, crusading Canton editor who was assassinated by gangsters as a result of his drive against the underworld. On Saturday, November 16, the newspapermen will be guests of the university's athletic department at the Ohio-Illinois football game.

An important collection of manuscripts and photographs pertaining to the World War has been presented to the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society Museum by David Snodgrass, Columbus artist. It was announced by Henry C. Shetrone, director of the society. The material was collected by the late Clarence E. Andrews, Columbus professor of English, writer, world traveler, a member of the American Peace Commission assigned to special duty in Europe and a member of the American Relief Commission in Roumania following the war. He was assigned during the war to the aviation intelligence corps on the Western Front. Upon the death of Mr. Andrews the collection became the property of Mr. Snodgrass, a close friend, who traveled with Mr. Andrews in North Africa and who illustrated two of his books. The collection includes correspondence, certain war dispatches, aerial photographs of the front and propaganda pamphlets issued during the war by both the allies and Germany.

County Relief Bonds

Approved Tuesday

The returns from the county, although unofficial, approve the thirty-five thousand dollar relief bond issue by a margin of 395 votes. The vote was 4142 favorable to 3747 opposed. Most of the townships turned the issue down but the majority vote was secured in the municipalities.

The claim has been that the bonds would not cost taxpayers a cent as the bonds and interest would be paid from a one per cent gross tax on utility companies. Within the past few days the State Tax Commission has reduced the tax value of utility property in the county $500,000 to make up for the one per cent tax imposed on the companies under the Carey law. Each taxing district in the county will lose tax revenue by this reduction. The New Deal way of "No Cost" to taxpayers.

LARGE VOTE AT ELECTION; DRYS WIN

The election Tuesday, involving choice of village and township officials, as well as vote on tax rates and bond issues, brought out a large vote in the village but a rather surprising smaller vote in the township.

There was but one county issue and that for a $35,000 bond issue for poor relief under the Carey act. The bonds would be retired over a nine year period by a one percent tax on gross receipts of utility companies. The issue was defeated in both township precincts and carried in each of the village precincts.

Another local issue of unusual interest was that of local option on the sale of beer in both the township and village. The drys won in the four precincts by a margin of 141 votes on the unofficial count. A majority was given the drys in both township precincts while wets and drys tied in the village south, each receiving 99 votes.

In the township there was but one contest and that was for township trustee. Two of the former members of the board, Hugh Turnbull and M. W. Conley were re-elected, the new member being Meryl Stormont. Wilbur Conley, who has served for several years did not seek re-election. The village contest narrowed down to that of marshal, H. A. McLean, incumbent, defeating Thomas B. Frame.

SHALL WE "SOAK EVERYONE"?

When we "soak the rich," we "soak everyone." This is especially true of proposals to levy exorbitant taxes on our great corporate enterprises. Demagogic politicians point to the fact that some of these corporations have gross incomes running into the scores of millions—and they attempt to reason from that, that they should be taxed to the point of confiscation, in order to benefit people of small and average means.

What the politicians overlook is that most of these great corporations, far from representing a few vast fortunes, represent the accumulated savings of hundreds of thousands of investors.

The largest American business enterprise, for example, is the American Telephone & Telegraph Company. It has a stockholder list of about 670,000 persons. Not a single one of these stockholders owns as much as one per cent of the company.

A representative enterprise is the General Motors Corporation. It has a market value of $1,700,000,000 and is owned by some 415,000 stockholders. More than 150,000 of these stockholders possess ten shares of stock or less—a maximum investment interest, on the average, of $550. Where are your great accumulations of capital here?

Taxes and legislative policies that punish enterprise, merely because it is conducted on a large scale, strike directly at the jobs, savings and pocketbooks of millions of ordinary citizens—who are far from being rich. The savings of the great masses of Americans are represented, directly and indirectly, by our large corporate businesses—and on the future of those businesses, the future of the average individual citizen depends.

NEW DEAL GATHERING SOME MOLD

It can hardly be said that the New Deal was not an issue in most of the elections where state officers were involved. It would not of place for anyone to contend otherwise when Postmaster General Farley made the New Deal an issue in New York state and asked support of the Democratic state legislative ticket on that grounds. In addition Roosevelt what little prestige he had left by calling in Democratic leaders at Hyde Park to help uphold his dictatorship. The net result was repudiation of the socialistic New Deal. Democratic counties went Republican in that state and the legislature now changes to Republican control. Even Hyde Park did not stand by its leading citizen on the New Deal issue. New Jersey displaying its displeasure with present events in Washington and returned Republican. In Ohio cities like Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati, that have backed the New Deal, upset the Democratic apparatus to get away from the Roosevelt standard of socialism. Many cities and other taxing districts turned down local bond issues to meet government funds in the new order of sharing the wealth of the nation. The New Deal has done one thing—it has made more people tax conscious than anything yet known in the history of the country. People are just awakening to the fact that just around the corner we are facing many more forms of taxation to pay the New Deal experimental costs. Even Democratic Dayton turned down a million dollar bond issue rather than tie a rope around itself to get a few dollars of the Roosevelt slush fund. Yes, the New Deal is showing signs of mold inside and out.

THE POTATO QUOTA HAS BEEN SET

The Agricultural Department under the potato control law that goes into effect next month has fixed the quota in the nation at 226,600,000 bushels, that is this quota is to be tax exempt.

The prosperity feature of the potato control act is that it provides for the appointment of thousands of inspectors and snoopers, all of whom must be paid either by the purchaser of potatoes or from the New Deal.

Over production is the cry of the commercial potato growers, which probably cannot be denied. The potato control law will add little or nothing to the small grower but will almost be a guarantee of big profits to the commercial growers who will have the big base for acreage.

The New Deal is directly responsible for the growth of the potato surplus. Thousands of acres of southern land that had been in cotton for a century were turned to potatoes under the cotton control act. In May we personally witnessed the digging of potatoes in Louisiana where the yield was from five to six hundred bushels per acre. What chance has an Ohio grower with such a yield. Moreover a potato crop in that state is almost assured the day seed is put in the ground. Climatic conditions with moisture almost each day or night makes certain a profitable crop. There the control act will prove a financial benefit to commercial growers but a detriment to Ohio growers. Bushels of potatoes over the quota carry a high tax that the farmer must pay. A penalty is also provided if a consumer purchases untaxed surplus.

VITAL TO THE PUBLIC WELFARE

The cost of food is the largest single item in the average family budget. And, the lower the total family income, the higher becomes the proportion needed for food.

Any sound means of reducing retail food prices, thus liberating money for other purposes, is obviously in the interest of the entire country.

It is in the interest of the consumer who, if his food costs him less, will have more to spend for clothes, amusements, a thousand luxuries and necessities.

It is in the interest of the producer, who has a great deal to gain from cutting the spread between the wholesale and retail price of farm products. If foods are cheaper, the consuming market is automatically increased. More quality foods are bought. Home truck gardeners produce less, and turn to commercial sources of supply.

It is in the interest of every industry, which will receive its share of the money liberated. The man who cuts his food budget, for example, may use a month's savings to purchase a pair of shoes. Workers are employed—transport systems receive more business—tax payments rise—dividends are earned by stockholders—advertising budgets are increased. And so it goes, all along the industrial line.

Much progress has already been made in reducing the spread between wholesale and retail prices by doing away with needless overhead and middleman costs. Much remains to be done, and progressive food retailers are working on the problem. Today, with food prices tending to rise much faster than the average income, that work becomes constantly more vital to the public welfare.

The statement is made that youth is losing its influence—how could it be when the older folks are growing younger each day.

Its new and its works—Promise the voter a job, or a few dollars, and he forgets all he knows about the law and the constitution.

Those who are careful where they put their confidence are not so apt to lose it.

And you were told "No Cost" bonds would cost nothing!

Had Will Rogers lived until Monday last he would have been 56 years of age. Probably no man, president, politician, industrialist or educator in this country was able to number as many friends as the Oklahoma cowboy. Following his tragic death it was but a brief space of time that a demand arose for a memorial to the famous humorist and philosopher. This campaign is now on and will be continued until Thanksgiving Day.

Rogers earned millions during his public career yet when his estate was appraised it amounted to a few hundred thousand. His benefactions during his lifetime were numerous and without publicity. Just what the memorial will be cannot be announced until the amount of money raised is determined.

No wonder the Dictator slipped up to Hyde Park to hide for a week or ten days. Gen. Hugh Johnson is daily shooting holes in the New Deal. His attack on members of the Roosevelt cabinet is an exposure none other than one who was at one time connected with the braintrusts could make and get away with it. Now we notice farm leaders are much concerned when the news leaked out that none of the Roosevelt land in Georgia is signed up to curtail crops. To preach curtailment of crops and live stock and then not join with other farmers in the cause is more than farmers can understand, even with a President.

The football world, at least what we might term the Ohio section, had a shock last Saturday from which it will not soon recover. Having the game won until the last few minutes of play, the Ohio State let Notre Dame walk off with the honors. It was a hard fought game that will cause State some loss of prestige the rest of the season. The loss to Ohio fans in another way cannot be estimated.

When the Davey administration began to play politics with the liquor issue in Ohio in ordering certain distilling firms to discontinue advertising in certain papers, the distillers retaliated by dropping all advertising. This hit the city papers hard as the companies were spending about $50,000 a month. Charges and counter charges have been made against the present management of state liquor stores. How liquor is purchased and where. Reports also connect prominent Democratic politicians as reaping big profits in selling green liquor to the state. Gov. Davey need not lose courage over the scandal connected with this branch of his administration. Former Governor George White had plenty of trouble and he might offer some sympathy, but he won't. The Marietta Governor is probably laughing up his sleeve.

With our means of communications such as they are, mail, newspapers, radio, and comment among neighbors, you would think that every citizen in the United States should know that Huey Long had been assassinated. We read that an average of 500 letters reach his former office in Washington each day. Previous to his death his average mail was about 7,000 letters a day. Then was a time when the press carried stories of how many letters reached the White House each day after the New Deal was hatched. Now you hear nothing. Neither have you heard any comment on the letters sent the White House in answer to a call for comment from the ministers of the nation. The administration had little concern for the opinion of ministers early in the campaign. The ministers have less for the New Deal today.

You have heard much about the "No Cost" bonds for relief that were voted upon in scores of counties in the state Tuesday. The Herald purposely delayed comment on this feature rather than have it said we opposed relief. Greene county was one that heard the appeal to vote for bonds that were not to cost you anything. Such an appeal sounded to us much like most of the New Deal. The County Commissioners wisely placed the matter before the voters for approval or disapproval as the individual saw fit. But to get down to brass tacks let each one stop for a minute and read between the lines. It was correctly stated that these bonds would be paid from a tax of one per cent on the gross earnings of the utility companies. How long could any company continue to exist and yet have different taxes heaped upon it year after year? We are concerned about Greene county and so should you be. Just recently the State Tax Commission reduced the valuation of utility companies in Greene county to the amount of $500,000. But did the Tax Commission order a reduction of the value of your home of farm to reduce your taxes? Citizens of the county, township, school district and municipalities will lose the tax revenue on their share of the $500,000 reduction. The point we wish to make is that you as a citizen are out the amount representing your share of the tax from the reduction given the utility companies. Next year, 1936, comes the reappraisal of real estate in the county. Will the tax commission give you a lower valuation?

Offers Recipe For Apple Butter Time

It is apple butter time, and H. D. Brown, professor of horticulture at the Ohio State University, has been induced to describe his method of making butter. Brown is an experimentalist in methods of fruit and vegetable processing.

"Select desirable varieties for good quality apple butter," he suggests. "Tart varieties require slightly more sugar but they make better quality butter than sweet sorts."

"Wash the apples thoroughly, peel and core, and remove all decayed and insect-infested areas. Fair quality source of heat it is essential that they be well cleaned. Boil the combined butter can be made without peeling and coring if screening facilities are adequate. The blossoms should, however, be removed and the apples cut in halves. Sound portions of otherwise defective apples may be used.

"Place the prepared apples in a kettle, cover with cider and cook until a pulp is formed. Add approximately 6 gallons of cider for each bushel of apples. Previously prepared concentrated cider may be used provided the apples are completely covered with cider. When the apples are cooked to a pulp, remove and force the combined product through a 22-mesh sieve. For large quantities cyclones and finishing machines are used.

"Replace the screened pulp in the cleaned cooker. If steam coils are the

Sponsored by Cedarville W. C. T. U.

Who Will Pay?
In 1914, just before the country began to go dry state by state, says the Silent Messenger of Minnesota, the annual beer consumption in the United States would have filled a ditch six feet wide, three feet deep, reaching from New York to Seattle.

And who paid the bill?
The family paid the bill in lessened comforts, lessened food, lessened happiness, lessened clothing, lessened respect, lessened money for education—often paid in actual cold, actual hunger, actual brutality.

The drinker generally paid the bill not only in money, but in loss of job, loss of love of his family, loss of standing in his community.

Society paid the bills in hospitals and charities for the drinker and his family, in accidents, and deaths due to drink-fogged brains.

The worst burden falls, not upon him who drinks, but upon those who suffer because of the drinking habits of others.

"Let the children speak," declared Evangelist Booth, "the little children, the wronged children, the crippled children, the abused children, the blind children, the imbecile children, the nameless children, the deserted children, the starved children, the beaten children, the dead children. O my God, this army of little children! Let their writing upon the wall of the nation—although traced by tiny fingers as stupendous as eternity—be correctly interpreted and read, that the awful robbery of the lawful heritage of their little bodies, minds and souls is laid at the brazen gates of alcohol."

In announcing that his Senate Finance Subcommittee is working on a bill to tighten up administrative features of the liquor tax, law Senator William King intimates efforts are being made to cut liquor taxes.

In towns and cities those who wish to get ahead in the world are realizing more and more that they must choose between drink and the job. They may exercise their personal liberty by indulging in intoxicants. But their employer also may exercise his personal liberty by putting others to work who live clean lives, whose efficiency has not been diminished by liquor.

Apparently where there is liquor there is violation of law. Carolina has had legal liquor only a few weeks when a wholesale liquor dealer there undertook to increase his profits by defrauding the state of its tax on liquor. Men engaging in the liquor traffic frequently fail to take morals with them into business.

—Upton G. Wilson.

"Helpless children are killed daily by the wanton disregard of drunken drivers. Society should be protected from these beasts." This was the comment made by Judge Eugene J. Holland of the Chicago Municipal Court to a salesman on the stand who admitted that he had had three glasses of beer just before his arrest on the charge of drunken driving, but insisted that he was "violently ill," not tipsy.

Let it be remembered that it was beer, the supposedly harmless drink, that made the old-time saloon. Ninety per cent of all liquor sold by the 177,000 saloons in the old days was beer.

Hallowe'en Crowd Had Big Time

The Hallowe'en celebration last Friday night drew many people to town, delegations being present from Springfield, Xenia, Yellow Springs and Jamestown. The event was staged under the direction of the I. O. O. F. lodge with local merchants.

The streets were decorated with electric light festooning and a number of concessions provided entertainment for the crowd both previous to the parade and afterward. Dancing was enjoyed in both the Nagley and I. O. O. F. halls.

The evening was enlivened by hand music by the local I. O. O. F. band, I. O. O. F. Home Band, Springfield and Jamestown band.

Various prizes were given by local business houses for contests and those who bid for honors in the masked parade. One of the first prizes went to Cedar Street residents that formed a unit of the comic stripe with old and young folks taking part.

Some of the winners were: Pauline and Dorothy Nelson as the Gold Dust Twins; "Bess" Cummings and his trained dog; Mrs. Phil Orr as Red Cross Nurse; Mrs. Leona Brewer, Y. Springs as Mae West; Mrs. Bauman, Y. Springs as the Candy Girl Mr. C. E. Mason and Miss Geraldine Free, Xenia; Best costumed couple as Red Cross Nurse and Sailor; Group, Nettie Jeffries, Josephine Deck and Mrs. Ray Littler.

Winners of other prizes were Alva Link and son; Mrs. Sam Pemberton, Mrs. Dave Taylor, Alfred Brightman, Mrs. Wm. Brightman, Honey Lou and Richard Stormont, Betty Gordon, Charlotte Swindler, O. S. & S. O. Home Ed Beatty, Y. Springs; Lowell Cultice.

In the Hog calling contest for men Carmel Harris, took first; For women, Mrs. Lucy Turner; Tap dancer, Jack-nance Subcommittee is working on a bill to tighten up administrative features of the liquor tax, law Senator William King intimates efforts are being made to cut liquor taxes.

The judges were Miss Ina Murdock, Mrs. Dorothy Wright, Mrs. Frank Creswell, Dr. F. A. Jurkat and Dr. Leo Anderson.

RESEARCH CLUB MEETING AT JAMIESON HOME

The regular monthly meeting of the Research Club was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. A. Jamieson, when twenty-three members of the Club and about the same number of guests were entertained.

The topic of the meeting was "Mexico" and roll call was answered by the members giving facts or data concerning that country. Mrs. Lawrence Shields, Xenia, who resided in Mexico for a number of years, was the guest speaker. Mrs. Shields in a very interesting and entertaining way gave her hearers a picture story from her own personal experiences and observations of the people in our neighboring republic. In addition she sang three native songs in Spanish that delighted the both members and guests.

Mrs. Donald Kyle was elected to membership of the club at the business session. Music was furnished by the Orange and Blue Serenaders of the College composed of Anna Jane Wham, Phyllis Robe, Dorothy Anderson and Harriet Ritenour, under the direction of Mrs. Margaret J. Work, of the Department of Music. The Serenaders sang Mexican songs. Following delightful refreshments a social hour was enjoyed.

GOLDEN RULE CIRCLE

When the members of the Golden Rule Circle met for their regular class meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Ford, on the evening of October 31, they discovered that the world is indeed topsy-turvy on Hallowe'en, for no sooner had they been received by the hostess than each was given a small paper bag containing "oats" and all were sent in small groups at different times to the home of Mrs. Mary Huffman. There a contribution for the bags was received with instructions to go to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Grindle's home where upon the porch sat the startling figure of a ghost. In its hand was a placard bearing upon it the information that no one was at home, and that the visitors should follow the corn. A trail of corn grains was discovered leading from the house, and was followed according to instructions. It led by a devious route to the back door of the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall. The door, however, was locked, but a window stood hospitably open, through which the guests were invited to enter.

When all had assembled, and after a period of much needed rest, the business meeting was conducted by Mrs. C. L. McAllister, president of the class, and a helpful devotional program was presented by Mrs. Charles Kimble. A social hour followed with Hallowe'en games and refreshments served by the hostesses.

Lesson for November 10 EZEKIEL TEACHES PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY

LESSON TEXT—Ezekiel 33:7-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God.—Romans 14:12.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Prophet Encourages His People.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Watchman on Duty.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Does God Care What I Do?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Individuals Accountable to God.

Ezekiel prophesied in the land of the captivity. The purpose of his ministry was threefold: (1) To show the house of Israel that they were in captivity because of their sins (14:22); (2) To show that God is righteous in His visitation of judgment upon them (7:8, 9); (3) To sustain their faith by assuring them of their national restoration, the punishment of their enemies and their final exaltation among the nations when Messiah shall reign.

God's Sovereign Right to the Souls of Men (13:1-5).

Every man is personally responsible to God.

II. The Moral Obligation of Sons to Their Father (Ezek. 18:14-20).

While the law of heredity gives the child a sinful nature and when the child arrives at the age of moral responsibility it begins to sin, God holds such responsible for their deeds.

III. Ezekiel's Responsibility (Ezek. 33:1-9).

As a prophet of God certain responsibilities were imposed upon him. There is a sense in which every disciple of Christ is a witness for him and therefore is responsible for the giving of his testimony to sinners. His responsibility is set forth under the figure of a watchman. Two things were required of a watchman.

1. To hear the words of God's mouth (v. 7). The source of the message of every minister and Sunday School teacher is God's holy Word. Just as the prophet did not originate his message but received it of God's mouth, so it should be with every minister and Sunday School teacher.

2. To sound the warning (v. 7). After hearing God's message he was to speak it out and proclaim it to the people. A watchman today is both to hear and to speak. The people are to be warned of the impending danger. Failure to sound the alarm makes the watchman guilty of the blood of the sinner.

IV. God's Attitude Toward the Sinner (vv. 10, 11).

God has declared in His Word that unbelief is at the heart of his people would cause them to "perish among the heathen," that they would "pine away in their iniquity" (Lev. 26:38, 39). In view of this pronouncement some are disposed to say that their case is hopeless. To meet this attitude of despair he who assured them that God had no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but that his sincere desire was for the wicked to turn from their way and live. Regardless of what their past had been, they were given the assurance that the future was bright if they heeded God's command and plea. No one need despair because of sin, for God's grace is greater than human sin.

V. The Sinner's Personal Responsibility (vv. 12-20).

God created the members of the race personal beings, giving them freedom of choice. They have moral discernment enabling them to distinguish between the right and the wrong. They choose, therefore, according to the quality of their being.

The following principles govern the sinner:

1. Past righteousness will not avail for present sins (v. 12). When a righteous man turns to iniquity, his past seeming righteousness will be of no avail.

2. Past sins do not make impossible present acceptance with God (vv. 12-15). By virtue of the operation of the law of habit, every sinful act makes it harder for the sinner to repent, but God's grace is such that if the sinner repents God will forgive and restore.

3. Retribution required (vv. 15, 16). The proof of penitence is that, so far as possible, the sinner makes amends for wrongs done.

4. God's ways are equal (vv. 17-20). God holds men responsible for their own deeds. The child is not condemned because of the deeds of its father, nor can it be said that the fathers have eaten sour grapes and the children's teeth are set on edge. This does not do away with the law of heredity. Regardless of what one's past life has been, God's grace in Jesus Christ bids him to his record and he stands accepted in the Beloved.
